

Dear FCC,

I've recently read several online articles regarding the Mandate to prohibit 'free software' from being used in at least one product (TV's) and perhaps other other products. I do not agree with this mandate, and believe free software is free speech and should be treated as such. Free software should be used in any and all capacities as any proprietary software.

Walter Smith